Fair Trade for a Better World

March 24, 2015

Mr. Miles Reitner, CEO
Driscoll's
345 Westridge Drive
Watsonville, CA 95076-4169

Dear Mr. Reitner:

I am enclosing a letter signed by nearly 10,000 consumers asking Driscoll's to suspend buying berries from Sakuma Brother's Berry Farm in Burlington, Washington until farm owners and farmworkers negotiate a fair contract.

As you are undoubtedly aware, farmworkers have been asking for a fair contract covering wages and conditions for several years now. Because of Sakuma Brothers' owners unwillingness to negotiate a fair contract, workers have called for a boycott of these berries.

Driscoll's is one of Sakuma Brothers' largest buyers and you have the ability to insist on a fair contract for farmworkers before you continue to purchase berries from this farm. Given your commitment to community and sustainability, this should be standard practice. The consumers who have signed the attached letter are not only expressing concern and solidarity for farmworkers, they are pledging to boycott all berries sold under the Driscoll's brand until this is resolved.

If you act now, a fair contract can be in place before the coming harvest season. This will ensure no further interruption of business to Driscoll's or Sakuma Brothers and more importantly ensure decent jobs for hundreds of farmworkers whose tireless work contributes to the ability of consumers to enjoy fresh berries year round.

On behalf of Fair World Project and thousands of concerned consumers, I look forward to your response by April 15, 2015.

Thank you,

Kerstin Lindgren
Campaign Director
Fair World Project

Fair World Project is a non-profit organization whose mission is to promote organic and fair trade practices and transparent third-party certification of producers, manufacturers and products, domestically and abroad. Through consumer education and advocacy, FWP supports dedicated fair trade producers and brands, and insists on integrity in use of the term "fair trade" in certification, labeling and marketing. FWP publishes a bi-annual publication entitled For a Better World. For more information, visit: <http://www.fairworldproject.org>.

March 24, 2015

Driscoll's
345 Westridge Drive
Watsonville, CA 95076-4169

Dear Driscoll's:

We are deeply troubled by your partnership with Sakuma Brother's Farm in Washington State. For several years Familias Unidas por la Justicia has been attempting to negotiate a fair and legally binding contract with Sakuma Brother's that protects their basic rights and provides fair wages. Their situation is so dire they have been forced to call for a boycott and at the same time you have increased purchases from them.

The new growing season is coming up and we are writing to ask that you terminate your purchases from Sakuma Brothers until they in good faith negotiate a legally binding contract and Familias Unidas por la Justicia calls an end to the boycott.

Although we appreciate the opportunity to purchase fresh berries year-round from a trusted brand, we will not continue to support Driscoll's if you continue to support farmworker abuse.

Please see attached for the names and comments of nearly 10,000 concerned consumers.

Please! Stop this Now!!!!!!!!!!
I've purchased Driscoll's items frequently, and will not do so again until the workers demands are met.

Stand for fairness!

Piece rate system with berries? That would be over handling and I know Sakuma Brothers staff isn't counting laborers berries. Sakuma Brothers have you ever heard of fair trade standards? They are based on the United States Labor LAWS!!!! You cannot obstruct workers from unionizing. You will owe your laborers back pay unless you go bankrupt. Anyone buying from this grower, Driscoll, is agreeing with Sakuma Brother's labor practices. That money you saved, isn't yours.

People who care about their food also care about how it is obtained. I would rather pay more than know workers are being unfairly treated.

Farming is hard work- farm workers need to be treated fairly.

I'm a regular Driscoll's customer (love me some organic raspberries!) and would like to be able to continue to be with a clean conscience.

Please do the right thing. Customers will respect you for it. Why not make people proud to buy your products, not proud to boycott them?

It's time for this injustice to stop! -- How much longer do you expect the workers to do slave labour in a supposedly free and compassionate country!

I buy a lot of Driscoll berries in Michigan. Please stop supporting farms that treat their workers in this manner.

lately we have been fighting for justice everywhere ,something is not right , NO ONE on earth have justice at all ,greed and selfishness is the driving force soo far

I purchase OG Driscoll berries and will stop until there is a fair wage and working conditions for the workers.

PEOPLE OVER PROFITS! IT'S TIME TO TAKE A STAND FOR WHAT'S RIGHT!!

Driscoll's is a steady supplier of berries to Whole Foods. Has Whole Foods been approached?

As a child, I did stoop labor in the fields of Eastern Washington. I wish we had had a union back then.

Driscoll's berries don't taste as good now that I know about Sakuma's abuse of their workers. I won't be buyng Driscolls brand until I hear that the Sakuma Brothers situation has been fairly resolved.

Please stop purchasing from Sakuma Brothers until they treat their workers more fairly!

I purchase your berries, but will need to stop if this is not remedied. I will not buy 'suffered' strawberries!!!

I will not buy from Driscoll until workers are paid a fair wage and are granted decent working conditions.

Sakuma Brothers have losing to the farm workers in Skagit County Superior Court. What they are doing is illegal.

Slavery is not a stable foundation for a viable community that values human life and human labor.

Sakuma Brothers , Be fair to your workers .
Every worker is worthy of his hire. When you put profit before people you lose customers and it will cost you in the long run.

We are ALL better of each of us is better, safer, and working together.
Your products are in many of my local stores, and I will not buy Driscoll products until you actually—not just in name only—support producers with fair wages and working conditions.

Sakuma --- Sign the Contract !!!

Fair should be fair. Unreasonable treatment is not acceptable. I will not buy Driscoll berries any more.

I will no longer buy Driscoll's berries. We need to stand with the people who do the labor.

I Buy a lot of Driscoll's products each week. That stops now.

Shame on you! I've been a loyal Driscoll berry consumer for decades. Today, you lost me as a customer. Until you do the right thing and support workers' basic rights and fair wages, I will not buy your berries. I intend to tell my friends and family to tell their friends and families to do the same.

Grace Weston WA

I'm shocked -- I've always bought Driscoll's berries assuming they support workers' rights to organize and be treated fairly and with dignity. I won't buy again until I hear that workers have gained greatly improved treatment.

I would gladly pay more for Driscoll's berries to insure that farm workers are properly compensated for their labor.

There needs to be a balance. Food corporations need to be part of the solution instead of the problem

I won't be buying any more berries from Driscoll till this situation is corrected.

I am a loyalty customer on Driscolls email list—so I am pretty upset that Driscoll would be this way!! Its awful!(and Makes me rethink my loyalty!

We buy lots of Driscoll's berries and I'm disappointed to see how they are dealing with this situation. I ask that you support fair labor practices.

Every human being deserves a decent living

I've bought a plot of berries, especially raspberries, usually two boxes a week, for years, but only when organically grown. Love your berries hate the way you treat your workers.

I buy lots of Driscoll's berries every week at Whole Foods. Please don't make me look elsewhere.

Gosh! Well, no more buying Driscoll's until the situation improves.

I buy your berries on a regular basis but won't unless this situation of worker abuse is set right at Sakuma Brothers Farm.

I actually do buy Driscoll's berries whenever they are in season, and they are among the very best. I'm sorry to hear they're such lousy employers. They're even way beyond union-busting.

we enjoy your berries but would like to feel good about the workers that are bringing them to our table. support a fair wage. thank you.

I will be spreading the word to local grocery stores to ask where berries are from before purchasing, and not buying from Sakuma/Driscoll.

Treat your workers fairly. What goes around, comes around. BE FAIR!

I have been supporting farmworkers since the days of the UFW

Fair livable wages are the bedrock of a just society. Do the right thing!

Sit down and talk with the people that work for Sakuma Brothers .

All of a sudden you are blanketing the TV airwaves with commercials. I had never seen any before. I figure you're are in trouble and you are going to try to advertise your way out of them.

What if you had no workers to harvest your crops?

in los ángeles, i typically purchase your berries 1-2 times per week. please take good care of the workers who pick your product, and i will continue to buy them. ----thank you!

Everyone who works must have the right to eat, feed his family, take a day off once a week, get healthcare, when needed.

Luke 10:7 Is the laborer not worthy of his hire?

I am now boycotting Driscoll's berries until further notice, and will encourage everyone I know to do likewise.

I like Driscoll's products. I am sorry to have to stop using them because of this unfairness to farm workers. Fix it now.

Lucy	Howard	MD	I will not buy your products if you refuse to respect those who labor for Driscoll's and Sakuma Brothers' Farms. Do the right thing and be progressive! Negotiate with the workers and pay them a living wage. You are then giving back rather than just pretending to. Right now you are stealing justly earned wages and benefits from your workers and are therefore creating more poverty. Be fair and create more economic prosperity for all instead!

Boycotting Driscoll products and spreading the word until the Sakuma Brothers do the right thing!

The foundation of the US's prosperity for businesses & individuals in the 50's & 60's was good wages. Let's try that again. --- It's hard to eat food, when I know that the people producing it are suffering.

Shame on Sakuma Brothers!

Another dirty bugger who wants all the profits for themselves and their lazy shareholders!$$$$$ --- So I shall add you to my NEVER buy from you list and I will let everyone know what dirty rats you are! --- Your days are numbered if you keep up the dirty biggerism as we the people if earth are DONE with profit mongering rats! --- Bye bye.....

PLEASE LISTEN TO YOUR CUSTOMERS AND ESTABLISH FAIR EMPLOYMENT STANDARDS FOR THE BERRIES YOU BUY!

These workers need a break, help, and you can give it.

Quality fruit does not require unfair practices. Clean up your act! You can do a lot to improve the lot of the people who produce your products.

What would Love do?

Everyone deserves respect and a fair wage. Sakuma needs to do the above.

We want you to protect the human rights of all the people who are associated with the food we eat. We will not buy Driscoll's because they do not honor the rights of workers.

As a white-looking farm worker in a farm community have seen rampant inequality. Hope you will lead the change.

Just sell your OWN berries!!

Do the right thing. Thank you.

Please help the workers at Sakuma Brothers negotiate a fair contract so they can have a decent standard of living. I often buy your brand of berries BUT I may look for other brands in future.-----
-----Sakuma

A fair wage and decent working conditions are the right of every worker!

Workers deserve decent pay and treatment!
Let's see your "commitment to community". Show it.

It would be interesting if the Sakuma Brothers made an attempt to live on the same wages that they are paying their employees. They have forgotten the number one rule when it concerns having employees...the employees are the company. When you take care of your employees, you take care of your business. They are being extremely foolish and greedy. It will eventually work against them in a big way.

I buy many Driscoll fruit products as many family and friends. None of us will purchase your products until a fair contact is negotiated for the employees of Sakuma Brothers. I truly regret eating these berries now knowing how the Sakuma Brothers mistreat their employees.

I think buying local and using a CSA will be a better choice anymore. I thought that people still had something called ..... "Morals and Dignity". Do something to show this company they can't treat people this way.

Driscolls -- We fervently support Sakuma workers here in Chicago!

We in our community RELY on the organic strawberries from Driscoll and hope you are able to stop purchasing from Sakuma Bros

I eat a lot of strawberries and I will find another supplier unless you stop buying from the Sakuma Brothers.

I look for Driscoll berries because I value quality...but I also value justice, safety and fairness so please help since I really want to be able to continue buying your berries. Thank you.

Driscoll strawberries are a main source of our diet. Please take care to buy berries that are fair to the workers that pick them.

Fair is fair, folks.

Driscoll's, get with it. Demand that Sakuma Bros negotiate a fair contract with their workers. Until then, I'll stay away from your berries.

Jennifer	Estrada	OH	To underpay farm workers while making good money off of their labor is similar to what the Nazis did to concentration camp workers. It is the same basic concept of disrespecting human life to fulfill one's low self-esteem and ego. I picked raspberries and strawberries for 2 summers as a young teen in Puyallup and will never forget how hard the work is. --- Treat those who do the real work in your company with respect. Costco does and their profitability has not suffered...

I don't want to save money on berries knowing someone is barely surviving and had harsh working conditions picking them.

We have Driscoll berres in our Krogers. I have bought their organic berries. I will stop doing even that until I hear that a fair contract with Famlas Unidas for la Justicia has a fair contract negotiated.

Pauline	Osofsky	CA	As a regular purchaser of Driscoll I'm ashamed of hearing about the bad working conditions of the very people that are the legs of the Company. Labor made ths country great. Honor Labor!

I buy lots of your fruit. I guess I will have to look elsewhere.

Everyone deserves fair wages for fair work and humane working conditions! Do the right thing, Driscoll's!!!

Be advised I will no longer buy your products! Supporting Sakuma is supporting the slavery of their workers!

Almost all the berries I buy are from Driscoll's, but if the workers at Sakuma aren't treated fairly, I won't be buying anymore. Please take a stand.

We are deeply troubled by your partnership with Sakuma Brother's Farm in Washington State.

Does Sakuma remember what happened to their Japanese ancestors during World War II? Now are they doing the same thing to their workers?

Everyone deserves a fair price for the work that they perform. It is one of the original statutes which has made this country as great as it is. While we do have our problems, situations like this can and should be alleviated by arbitration within the company itself. When the Co is not willing to arbitrate, it is only fair the workers have the right to ask to go beyond normal channels. Therefore, all they are asking is a temporary show of support. I believe we owe it to them.

NO MORE DIRTY AGRICULTURE!!!

I will stop buying your products until it is reported that you have changed your treatment of farm workers.

We will not buy your product until you negotiate with the working and give them a fare wage and decent working condition.

The people who make the products available for market deserve to make a safe and ecent living from their work. Driscoll should stop supporting and aiding their abusers.

Isn't there something (in humanity) called minimum wage to help workers be able to take care of themselves?

pay them fairly as you make HUGE profits

Chris	Konieczka	OR	I usually buy Driscoll over other berries because I know Driscoll means quality product. Now Driscoll needs to mean fair contracts! Farm labor is the most difficult labor, with the possible exception of underground mining, in the some of the very wealthiest most world. It is hard to believe that greedy CEO's want the farm laborers to work for literally no money, no benefits and worst of all, no respect. This is very, very bad Karma for corporation leaders who are guilty of this. They will find out the hard way, due to their savage greed, that bad Karma never forgets.

Negotiate squarely with your field workers or I don't buy Driscoll berries any longer!

Corporate rules as the normal order of the day... ---- Crime does not pay? It's paying the lobbyists. No justice in that.

I love berries, but I most definitely won't buy yours, and will encourage everyone I know not to do so also unless you support Familias Unidas by refusing to buy from Sakuma Brothers until they reach a fair and binding agreement with Familias Unidas.

Until your suppliers negotiate honestly and openly with their workers, your products have no place on my table.

I've always bought your berries as I know they are quality. By supporting farmworkers or any other workers abusively is not ok.

I am a major berry consumer. However, I am driven by my ethics and cannot in good conscience consume a product made available through unfair labor practices. I hope you will do the same.

Do the right thing!

Please; could you just do the right thing and not buy from a company who in essence is using slave labor? Shame on them and shame on you!

Every person deserves a living wage for their work, no matter what the work is.

Have bought Driscoll's Strawberries for years, but no more until I know you will boycott Sakuma Brothers produce until they negotiate a fair contract with Familias Unidas por la justicia

Consumers Asking Driscoll's to Insist on a Fair Contract for Farmworkers at Sakuma Brothers Farms

Mary	Rausch	MN	We avoided purchasing Driscoll's strawberries today despite the likelihood that they come from California rather than Washington's Sakuma Brothers. Food prepared at home is only 7% of the average American's income. We can do better. Please do your part and support healthy families instead of abuse.

Driscoll do not support Sakima's laborers' abuse. Times must change. Do not continue to support a harmful group to society.

Fair wages for a fair days work. What is the issue? Most likely greed. To not take care of the people making you money is sorta insane to me.

I want to know the products I am buying aren't cheap for me because someone else was exploited in the supply chain. Please honor your workers.

We buy a lot of Driscoll's berries. My family was all farmers. Please treat the farmers fairly.

Give these human beings fair working conditions.

I always buy Driscoll's in preference to other brands, but, no more, until you lend your support to the farm workers.

Hpw disappointing to learn that Driscoll's, one of my favorite and trusted food brands, would turn a blind eye to worker abuse. Hopefully, Driscoll's will do the right thing. I would hate to have to buy others' berries, but I will if necessary and I hope others do the same.

We are big consumers of berry products, but I will make sure that we buy none ever again from Washington State's Sakuma farms or Driscoll unless and until it is confirmed that Sakuma is willing to negotpiate with the laborers.

Everyone needs a fair contract and enough wages to live on. Do the right thing, Driscoll's.

I buy Driscoll's brand, but I will stop.

We often buy Driscoll's berries but will now refrain until better working conditions and wages are given the hard working farmworkers!

Mariclaire	Hession	VA	it's a sorry comment on any business to need a boycott to get them to do the right thing.it's good to know about this; -- I shop my politics and so do my friends and neighbors. They'll be happy to know about this too.
Teresa	Arrowood	OR	I once worked (briefly) for Stemilt out of Wenatchee. It was the hardest, most physically demanding job I'd ever done. And had no benefits other than lots of overtime. But I was treated like dirt by the managers and most employees. Everyone was, it was an extremely unhappy place to spend 14 long hours. -- It's not right that they must work without a contract, these people work hard, I know they do. And they're doing a job that no one else wants. They deserve better. --Treat your employees the way you'd like to be treated, with respect. And they will respect you in return. Never forget -- people with something to work for, tend to work harder and faster. You should keep that in mind next time your making cuts to pay.
Larry	Manter	IL	Another case of anything for a buck. When will these people learn that attitude is neanderthal? Anyway, just another case of someone being wrong ... and refusing to budge simply because they'll make less money (they think) if they can browbeat their employees into working for next to nothing.

Consumers Asking Driscoll's to Insist on a Fair Contract for Farmworkers at Sakuma Brothers Farms

Toni	Tempel Navarro	VT	Workers are the backbone of every industry; treating them fairly and as the valued and necessary link they are is what makes a successful business. Imagine how bad the situation must be for the workers to risk their livelihoods and losing the small income they receive. They deserve fair wages and consumers should join boycott Driscoll's for not supporting fair wages!

The workers need backup in getting a fair contract. It's disheartening to me that in these modern times there are such blind, selfish and stupid companies ---and more, that these companies think that the American consumer doesn't care. Well, Caesar Chavez has an important street in Los Angeles named after him now ... so think twice. We do care.

Consumers Asking Driscoll's to Insist on a Fair Contract for Farmworkers at Sakuma Brothers Farms

Stacy	Owens	WA	As a born and raised Washingtonian, I absolutely love this place I am fortunate enough to live and work in. So I am troubled and saddened to know that other people here, who are trying to support themselves and their families, are being undermined by Sakuma Brothers and that Driscoll Farms continues to buy from them. Would the owners of that farm want their families to be treated this way? Would it be "just business" then? I will not buy any berries that have the Driscoll Farms name until they do the right thing and stop supporting Sakuma Brothers, pending a fair contract with their workers

I love Driscoll Berries! But I will vote with my dollars and not buy them until workers are treated fairly and paid a livable income.

Before we go off boycotting we first need to know the facts of the case like what is the current wage and benefits package, hours worked, etc. Then we need to know what other similar farm workers wages are in this region. If Sakuma is in fact unfair, by all means boycott, but if they are being targeted like the petroleum industry in Houston where the union is striking because they want a 90/10 insurance package rather than the 80/20 they and most Americans already have then there won't be a boycott.

Darcey	Zwicky	WI	Fair pay for fair work, that is what I ask. I enjoy Driscoll Berries (Raspberries, Strawberries & Blueberries) but I certainly can not continue to purchase berries from someone who doesn't care about fair wages for workers that pick the food we eat. Please put you foot down for those in need of it. Tell Sakuma Brother's that you wont purchase from them until they pay their workers a fair wage. It's hard enough to make it by in this world without your own employers honoring your work.

With Driscoll's help, hard working people will earn a fair wage.

I will not buy your berries picked on Sakuma Brothers Farms until the workers are paid fairly.

We buy Driscoll products because of their excellent quality. But we will stop unless Driscoll's holds Sakuma Brothers responsible for negotiating in good faith with the workers at Sakuma Bros. who are supplying Driscoll's with their berries. Until that time, Driscoll's must not purchase any Sakuma Bros. products.

I buy lots of your berries and I really hope you will no longer purchase Sakuma Brothers.

Driscoll's to stop purchasing from Sakuma Brother's until they negotiate a fair. --- Thank you. --- Steven Dale. --- 02/22/2015@22:41 i won't be buying Driscoll's until this situation is fairly remedied.

History repeats itself because too many think there is no such thing as a win / win. Why would I work my ass off so you can drive a new car and live in a nice house? Because I need money, too. Is there a place to meet in the middle. Berries are so expensive and so good for us -- I normally don't buy. But, if I do, I won't be buying from YOU!!! Share the wealth, you greedy sons of guns .....It isn't always about "me, me, me". Look in the mirror each day and ask yourself -- would I do this work for what I pay? We know the answer.....Where is Caesar Chavez when we need him?

If this continues I will also Boycott the Driscoll brand.

I often buy your organic strawberries, but will discontinue buying them if you continue relations with Sakuma Brothers.

Pay a living wage !

Love your berries, but will be boycotting, and informing citizens in the berry aisle when i see them buying Driscolls. Let's do what is right for your company and the world! Fair wages!

injustice flavors the berries in the worst way—with guilt

My family is a big consumer of Driscoll berries, but we won't be buying them till they "honor labor."

I've never really cared for Driscoll's berries, now I know why!

Farm workers deserve the best pay and conditions. We deserve food that is wholesome for the workers, the environment and for our health. I won't ever buy from Driscolls, and I will be asking local farm markets that sell your products to stop doing so. We'd all be better off if we ate locally, from small farmers, anyway.

I have always bought driscoll's berries, because I have trusted the name and quality of their product. But thinking of how unfairly these workers are being treated, has made me choose to look for another source from which to buy my berries. And I will do so until driscoll's honors the rights of the farmworkers.

Love your fruit... You have leverage in this business. I would pay more for your product to help ensure that these human beings get a fair deal.

Honor labor Honor promises Honor agreements and Honor and protect your good name Treat people properly and the money will properly flow.

I will no longer purchase Driscoll's products until this is resolved.

I will not buy Driscoll berries until I hear that progress has been made to give the pickers fair wages and working conditions.

Consumers Asking Driscoll's to Insist on a Fair Contract for Farmworkers at Sakuma Brothers Farms

serena	flores	CA	I emailed driscoll a few months back, because I noticed they are very close to where I live. I had requested to view their farm, in which they told me they don't do tours. Now, I know why. They don't actually grow them themselves! People need to know. This is bull. They make a ton, and half the berries agree usually rotten and moldy! They can afford to pay their people better

I won't be buying your fruit until this is resolved!

Until you stop buying berries from Sakuma Brother while they mistreat their workers, I cannot, in good conscience, buy anymore of your fruit. Hopefully, you can put the necessary pressure on Sakuma Brothers to stop their abuse.

fair trade is very important!!!

I won't be buying Driscoll raspberries until you clean this up. justice

I am switching from Driscoll berrys which i used to always bur. Shame on them.. Telling all my friends!!

Please be fair to fellow humans.

I will no loger buy your berries until you do right by these people!

i pay a lot for your organic berries and I expect that you share that with your workers in an equitable fashion!

BE JUST AND FEAR NOT

Do the right thing, don't be greedy, do unto others as you would have them treat you!

I am a Veteran, Active Voter and TaxPayer. As a Veteran I put my life on the line for Democracy. This missive is Democracy in action. Please help stop the plutocratic take over and save American Democracy and the middle class. Re-instating the Glass–Steagall Act is a good place to begin. It is a sad fact that national socialist philosophy now drives the republican party.

I am a Driscoll's loyal buyer, I was dismayed to read about this.

Pay workers what they are WORTH, not the lowest amount you feel you can get away with!

I quit buying Driscoll's.

Workers work hard and hardly get paid. Pay workers well and while you are at it treat them well as well. Thank you for treating workers equitably and fairly.

Kathy	Adams	IN	Fair treatment for all workers in USA. Even those were not born here or are here without a green card. Everyone who works in America deserves fair wages, healthcare and a respect. Are you true Americans Sakuma Brothers? We ended slavery over a hundred years ago. Did you know that? President Lincoln would not proud of the way you treat your workers. Please follow your heart and refuse to buy from the Sakuma Brothers Farms unless they treat their workers fairly! My family buys Driscoll berries every week, but I will look for other brands until this is resolved.. Please do what is right!

I am also going to ask our local grocery stores to stop carrying your berries. Your company has the power to stop abuses like this. Please think of these workers and not just about the bottom line.

We won't use your berries until you get your act together. Sakuma Brothers needs to pay their workers fairly!

I just watched "Food Chains," and I had to ask, why do we still have the kind of exploitation depicted in "Harvest of Shame" more than a half-century ago? It's time to live up to our ideals, people! You MUST honor these workers~!!!

I LOVE berries, ORGANIC ones...I will not buy any berries from Driscolls until you change this policy.

Labor rights are human rights! You have the power, and financial capacity, to make a change.

These workers need a union so that they won't be treated like slaves.

Driscoll: I buy tons of your berries, but will stop if you force me to....

Denise	Stubberfield	NY	I will stop buying your berries if you don't negotiate a fair contract.
Stefan	Knott	CO	DONE BUYING YOUR EXPENSIVE BERRIES UNTIL WORKERS GET PAID AND TREATED FAIRLY! YOUR BERRIES AT $5 A POP IN SOME STORES AND YOU CAN'T GET YOUR WORKERS PAID?! GREED!!!!
Maureen	Murphy	OR	Pay workers a fair wage. I won't be buying any Driscoll berries until I see that you have changed your policies to your workers. Treat people FAIRLY!

kris	brubaker	UT	I have been a committed Driscoll berry buyer for over 8 years, yet unless they honor the rights of works to fair labor laws by refraining from buy from Sakuma Brothers, unitl Sakum Brothers resolves their labor dispute in way that honors workers rights, I will not purchase from Driscoll.
Rolonne	Ross	BC	We have Driscoll's strawberries at our local market in Surrey, B,C. I will not buy them now!Regards R.Ross
Mary	Rossi	CA
Joel	Gold	HI	I buy their organic berries regularly but will boycott them now until I hear or read Driscoll has boycotted Sakuma.
Rhonda	Sites	VA
Jennifer	Henderson	FL
Georgeanne	Matranga	NY
Elizabeth	Robinson	OR	As a customer who has favored Driscoll berries when purchasing in the grocery store, I must regretfully say, I can no longer purchase them until the Sakuma farm gives its workers a proper contract
